Financial Assistance Available for Sewer Bills

United Way Program Can Help Residents Pay Sewer Bills

Riverside residents who qualify can get financial help paying the sewer services portion of their KCMO Water Services bill through the Kansas City Water Services Customer Assistance Program. The program is run in partnership with local non-profits, charities and government organizations, including the United Way in Kansas City.

As with all financial assistance programs, applicants will need to meet initial eligibility criteria, including income guidelines, to receive help. The funds are available through a grant, and can be used to pay older bills and debts, and to help avoid service shutoff. Qualifying applicants may receive a maximum of $500 to use for sewer bills. Residents can only apply for the program and assistance once within a rolling 12-month period.

To learn more about the KCMO Water Services needs-based assistance program and your potential eligibility, call (866) 320-5764 or 2-1-1, the United Way's info line.

It's Christmas in July at Ambius

Interior Landscaping firm provides seasonal décor, plants

Thirty years ago, "holiday office décor" typically amounted to five poinsettias and a lone tree. Today, it's called interior landscaping, and has become a core part of the business for plant-based firms like Ambius. Last year, Riverside became home to the national company's Kansas City District warehouse, which employs 26 people. Ambius shares the warehouse with its sister company, Presto-X.

Rosie Baker is Area District Manager for Ambius Kansas City and Omaha. She says Christmas arrives early there: Inventory starts arriving in February for the upcoming holiday decorating season. In July, the staff begins to prep and design. "We create custom seasonal interior landscapes that feature everything from all sizes of wreaths and trees to garland and ornaments ... we've even created snow scenes with snowmen and ice trees in buckets," Baker said.

Local clients include law firms, financial companies and hotels, including the Argosy Casino Hotel & Spa. Decorating Argosy is a two-day project. "We put a 30-foot tree in the rotunda area one year, along with several other trees ranging from 7- to 10-feet tall, and lots of garland," Rosie said. The smaller trees are on wheels so staff can move them around for various functions.

Though seasonal décor is key, Ambius's main focus is the selling and leasing of plants to businesses. They also provide maintenance by technicians who visit every location to water, prune, fertilize and groom the plants.

Baker, who has been with the firm for 29 years, says the seasonal décor projects and working around living plants makes for a fun business. "The people are the best part, those I work with and those I meet in the field. And of course, I love plants. It's the perfect job for me!" Baker said. To learn more about the firm, visit ambius.com

City's Business Pro to Leave Post

A wedding, family farm bring changes for Jackie Carlson

In February 2013, Jackie Carlson joined the City's staff to handle planning and business services. Since then, she's helped many new and existing companies grow their businesses, tap into resources and navigate City processes. All that will change at summer's end when she moves to Silver Lake, KS, just outside Topeka, to join her fiancé on his family's farm. The Current recently interviewed Jackie for the inside story.

Q So... a farm?

A Yes. I'm marrying an amazing man, Kelly, who is a Kansas farm boy. And he's not leaving that farm, which belonged to his grandparents.

Q We see a charming home surrounded by pastureland...

A Not exactly. The pasture, little creek and view of the Capitol are beautiful, but the house is a yet-to-be-updated 1970's ranch. And it's been a bachelor pad for a LONG time. But it'll be a great place to raise our family, and I'm up for a project.

Q What's the best thing about working for Riverside?

A Three things: The team at City Hall, who are just amazing, good people; being able to talk with businesses — it's incredibly interesting to build those relationships and learn what's being made here; and finally, working for a community that's innovative and open to new ideas and programs.

Q Most unforgettable moment?

A Going to the VIP Open House for Eagle Animal Hospital. Seeing the finished product and knowing I helped them through the process was pretty awesome.

Q Any advice for your successor?

A Keep building relationships and don't be scared to be innovative and try new programs. Because in Riverside, they work.
